Weather Forecast for St. Kitts & Nevis: A drier and more stable airmass associated with a ridge of high pressure has now settled across the area. A moderate to fresh trade wind flow generated by this ridge could transport shallow low level patches over and around the islands at times, thus maintaining a slight chance for shower activity overnight into early tomorrow.

Weather tonight: Partly cloudy and hazy with a 20 percent or slight chance of a brief shower.

Weather tomorrow: Partly sunny and hazy in general with a 20 percent or slight chance of brief morning showers.
