Weather Forecast for St. Kitts & Nevis: A strong pressure gradient persisting across the region will continue to produce fresh to strong winds; therefore, a high wind advisory remains in effect. The winds mixing the lower levels of the atmosphere along with a trough moving over the region will also enhance the chances of showers.

Possible rainfall total for the forecast period is 12 to 25 mm or 0.50 to 1.00 inch.

Tonight will be partly cloudy to cloudy with an 80 percent or a very high chance of showers. Tomorrow will be cloudy with an 80 percent or a very high chance of showers.
