Weather Forecast for St. Kitts & Nevis: A relatively tight pressure gradient producing moderate to fresh breeze will result in mixing of the air and could generate weak unstable conditions across the area. However, high pressure is the dominant weather feature and will act to inhibit significant shower activity. Meanwhile, seas remain hazardous due to the increase in the wind speed.

Weather tonight: Partly cloudy and hazy with a 20 percent or a slight chance of showers.

Weather tomorrow: Partly cloudy and hazy with a 40 percent or a moderate chance of showers.
